Foreword

The General Services Administration, through the National Archives and Records Service, is responsible for administering the permanent noncurrent records of the Federal Government. These archival holdings, now amounting to more than 1 million cubic feet, date from the days of the First Continental Congress and consist of the basic records of the legislative, judicial, and executive branches of our Government. The Presidential libraries of Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy, and Lyndon B. Johnson contain the papers of those Presidents and many of their associates in office. While many of the archival holdings document events of great moment in our Nation's history, most of them are preserved because of their continuing practical use in the ordinary processes of government, for the protection of private rights, and for the research use of scholars and students.

To facilitate the use of the records and to describe their nature and content, archivists prepare various kinds of finding aids. The present work is one such publication. We believe that it will prove valuable to anyone who wishes to use the records it describes.

Preface

Special lists are published by the National Archives as part of its records description program. The special list describes in detail the contents of certain important records series; that is, units of records of the same form or that deal with the same subject or activity or that are arranged serially. Its form and style are not fixed but vary according to the nature of the records to which it relates. Its distinguishing characteristic is that it goes beyond the general description contained in a record group registration statement, a preliminary inventory, or an inventory and describes records in terms of individual record items.

In addition to lists and other finding aids that relate to particular record groups, the National Archives issues publications that give an overall picture of materials in its custody. A new, comprehensive Guide to the National Archives of the United States will be issued. A guide devoted to one geographical area—Guide to Materials on Latin America in the National Archives (1961)—has been published. Reference information papers analyze records in the National Archives on such subjects as transportation, small business, and the Middle East. Records of the Civil War are described in Guide to Federal Archives Relating to the Civil War (1962), Guide to the Archives of the Government of the Confederate States of America (1968), and Civil War Maps in the National Archives (1961); those of World War I in Handbook of Federal World War Agencies and Their Records, 1917-1921 (1943); and those of World War II in the two-volume guide Federal Records of World War II (1950-51). Genealogical records are described in Guide to Genealogical Records in the National Archives (1964). Among the holdings of the National Archives are large quantities of audiovisual materials received from all sources: Government, private, and commercial. The Guide to the Ford Film Collection in the National Archives (1970) describes one of the largest private gift collections. The extensive body of maps and charts is described in the Guide to Cartographic Records in the National Archives (1971).

Many bodies of records of high research value have been microfilmed by the National Archives as a form of publication. Positive prints of these microfilm publications, many of which are described in the current List of National Archives Microfilm Publications, are available for purchase. For other publications, see the most recent Select List of Publications of the National Archives and Records Service, General Information Leaflet No. 3.

Introduction

The first regiment of U.S. Colored Troops was not mustered into Federal service until June 1863. Black troops were, however, organized to fight the Confederate forces prior to President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation of January 1, 1863, which was issued as War Department General Order 1 on January 2, 1863. Gen. David Hunter organized the 1st Regiment of South Carolina Colored Volunteers in the spring and summer of 1862 without War Department authorization. The Second Confiscation Act and the Militia Act of July 17, 1862, authorized President Lincoln to receive blacks into the military service as soldiers, but on August 6, 1862, the President announced that he was still unready to enroll blacks as soldiers in the Union Army.

Following the August 6th announcement, the 1st Regiment of South Carolina Colored Volunteers was disbanded by General Hunter only to be reorganized under Gen. Rufus Saxton with War Department authorization later in the same month. The 1st Regiment of Kansas Colored Volunteers was organized in August 1862 by Gen. James H. Lane without War Department approval but was not mustered into service until January 1863. Gen. Benjamin F. Butler ordered the enrollment of free black militiamen of Louisiana in August 1862, but, unlike the 1st Kansas Colored Volunteers, the 1st, 2d, and 3d Regiments of Louisiana Native Guards (later the Corps d'Afrique) were mustered into Federal service between September and November 1862.

The recruiting of black soldiers by the War Department after the Emancipation Proclamation was slow until Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton sent Adjutant General Lorenzo Thomas into the Mississippi Valley in March 1863 with the authority to recruit and organize free and contraband blacks for service in the U.S. volunteer service. The recruiting effort was successful, and on May 22, 1863, the War Department issued General Order 143, establishing the Colored Troops Bureau. This bureau was directly under the Adjutant General's Office, and Maj. Charles W. Foster was appointed chief with the title of Assistant Adjutant General. The bureau was made responsible for recruiting colored troops, commissioning officers to command them, organizing regiments, and maintaining the records of the various colored troop organizations. The first regiment of U.S. Colored Troops was mustered into the Federal service on June 30, 1863, at Washington, D.C. The Corps d'Afrique and other State organizations were redesignated when they became part of the U.S. Colored Troops, with the exception of a few units raised in Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Louisiana. Approximately 166 regiments and 200,000 officers and men were recruited, commissioned, and organized into the U.S. Colored Troops from the federalizing of the first regiment on June 30, 1863, to December 31, 1867, when the last regiment was mustered out.

A tabular list has been compiled for the bound regimental books and the unbound regimental papers of the U.S. Colored Troops and their predecessor units. The records are a part of Records of the Adjutant General's Office, 1780's-1917, Record Group 94, and they amount to approximately 82 linear feet of bound records and 56 linear feet of unbound records.

The bound volumes of regimental book records consist mainly of copies of letters sent, registers of letters received, endorsements and memorandums, regimental and company order books, and regimental and company descriptive books. The volume containing the regimental descriptive book frequently contains such other records as guard reports, morning reports, court-martial proceedings, proceedings of regimental councils of administration, requisitions for clothing, camp, and garrison equipment, various account books, and other miscellaneous records. Copies of letters sent, registers of letters received, and endorsements and memorandums are usually bound in the same volume.

Most of these records were maintained as separate books by the regiments, but during the 1880's the books were bound together into the present volumes by the Adjutant General's Office. The number of volumes shown in the table for each regiment refers to the total number of bound volumes rather than to the number of individual books contained therein.

Date spans have been provided in the table for some of the letters sent, registers of letters received, endorsements and memorandums, and general and special orders. Dates have not been provided for the remainder of the bound records since they often span the entire period of a regiment's existence. A list showing the dates of organization and muster-out for each regiment can be found in the appendix.

No distinction has been made between the separate order books maintained by the regimental headquarters and those kept by each company of the regiment, since both contain orders from regimental headquarters. Occasionally, orders issued by other commands have been copied into the regimental order book. Periods covered by the regimental and company order books sometimes vary, and the dates shown in the table for each type of order are the combined periods of coverage of both regimental and company order books.

Regimental and company descriptive books are shown in the tables as "R" and "C." From the regimental descriptive book of a typical U.S. Colored Troops unit, one can obtain the names and dates of appointment of the colonel commanding the regiment, the lieutenant colonel, major, adjutant, quartermaster, chaplain, surgeon (and first and second assistant surgeons, if any), and the captains and lieutenants of each company. The company descriptive books list only the names and dates of appointment of the commissioned officers for each company. Both regimental and company descriptive books list and describe the noncommissioned officers and enlisted men of each company.

At the end of the regimental books are volumes containing descriptive lists of enlisted men mustered into service at Camp Nelson, Ky. (4 vols.), and Benton Barracks, Mo. (2 vols.), during 1864-65 and assigned to various U.S. Colored Troops regiments. These volumes are not indexed.

The unbound regimental papers consist primarily of letters and telegrams received; general, special, and court-martial orders; circulars; court-martial proceedings and sentences; and rosters. The unbound papers frequently include other records, such as morning reports, casualty lists, descriptive lists of deserters, lists of men detailed, recommendations for appointments, resignations, discharges, inspection reports, and other miscellaneous papers. For convenience, the unbound regimental papers have been grouped into three categories: letters received; issuances; and rosters, reports, lists, and other miscellaneous records. All three types of records are listed in chronological order.

Some of the letters have been recorded in the registers of letters received, but others have not. Filed at the end of the letters received for some units are a few copies of requests for information concerning enlisted men's service. These requests were received and completed by the Adjutant General's Office during the 1870's and 1880's, and copies were filed with the regimental papers. The issuances include orders and circulars from regimental headquarters as well as incomplete series of orders issued by other commands and received at regimental headquarters. Complete series of general and special orders issued by regimental headquarters are more likely to be found with the bound than with the unbound issuances.

The table includes names of predecessor units whose records have been found with records belonging to the regiment, and explanatory notes are provided for those regiments that underwent one or more consolidations and to identify any special arrangements or types of records.

Records relating to the U.S. Colored Troops can be found in other series of Records of the Adjutant General's Office, 1780's-1917 (Record Group 94). There are the records of the Colored Troops Division, 1863-89, which include a compilation of historical extracts and official papers concerning the military service of blacks from the colonial period through the Civil War (published as Microfilm Publication M858). Information concerning the stations, movements, and battles participated in by units of the U.S. Colored Troops can be found in the regimental returns and muster rolls. There are compiled records showing service of U.S. Colored Troops units and other volunteer Union organizations (published as Microfilm Publication M594) and compiled service records of soldiers who served in the U.S. Colored Troops. Also in this record group are registers of sick and wounded, field hospital records, and other medical records of the U.S. Colored Troops.

Additional records pertaining to U.S. Colored Troops can be found in Records of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands, Record Group 105; Records of the Provost Marshal General's Bureau (Civil War), Record Group 110; Records of United States Army Continental Commands, 1821–1920, Record Group 393; and War Department Collection of Confederate Records, Record Group 109. The correspondence, issuances, and other records found in the regimental books and unbound papers of the U.S. Colored Troops are not likely to be found in U.S. War Department, The War of the Rebellion: a Compilation of the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies (Washington, 1880-1901).

Abbreviations used in the table and the appendix include the following: A. D. (African descent), Arty. (artillery), Bn. (battalion), Btry. (battery), Cav. (cavalry), C. d'Afr. (Corps d'Afrique), Inf. (infantry), Hv. Arty. (heavy artillery), and Lt. Arty. (light artillery).
